

The Krupp Company: Rolling a Steel Plate (before 1906)

Abstract

This photograph shows a steel plate in Krupp's plate rolling factory in Essen. The steel plate was colored white so that the manufacturing process could be captured in a black-and-white photograph. The burning coke positioned on the plate was carefully situated to better illustrate the manufacturing process.

Source

Source: Rolling a steel plate in Krupp's Factory in Essen, before 1906. Krupp Historical Archive, Essen, WA 16 b 203.14.

© Krupp Historical Archive, Essen. Further reproduction or redistribution to third parties without permission from the Krupp Historical Archive, Essen, is expressly prohibited.

Recommended Citation: The Krupp Company: Rolling a Steel Plate (before 1906), published in: German History Intersections, <<https://germanhistory-intersections.org/en/knowledge-and-education/ghis:image-16>> [May 06, 2024].