

Emigrant Lodging House “Stadt Warschau” (1910)

Abstract

This photo shows a group of Jewish emigrants, presumably from Eastern Europe, in the courtyard of the “Stadt Warschau” lodging house in Bremen. Since emigrants often had to wait several weeks for the departure of their ship, they urgently needed cheap and hygienic accommodation. In addition to the emigrant halls opened in Findorf in 1907, there were also several lodging houses in Bremen specifically for emigrants, such as the one shown here.

Source

Source: Photograph: Staatsarchiv Bremen, 10,B-Kartei-1243.

Institut für Auslandsbeziehungen in Stuttgart, Staatsarchiv Bremen

Recommended Citation: Emigrant Lodging House “Stadt Warschau” (1910), published in: German History Intersections, <<https://germanhistory-intersections.org/en/migration/ghis:image-108>> [April 23, 2024].